be a tax on stock sales of one percent. Uncle Sam

goes well, representatives will raise one billion dollars for this bill.

There are some "ifs" and "buts" in the program.
Mr. Alvin Macaulay, head of the

that the proposed tax on automobiles will wreck the industry.

Common sense is here to say "look-the-rich" brigade the tax that would take away the earnings of really big incomes will not yield the desired results. The big incomes will be cut.

THE BEST NEWS in town has been with ocean flying. Private price and capital proposals to build a line of superdirigibles, bigger than the Akron, to carry passengers and mails across the Atlantic and Pacific. Nothing is new of the government but a change to carry the mails such as other craft enjoy. That the bill introduced by Congressman Cresser of Ohio will pass there is no doubt.
Speed is everything in modern commerce. Germany already has Zeppelins running from Berlin to Buenos Aires in four days, against sixteen days by surface route.

The American dirigibles will cross the Atlantic in two and a half days, making the round trip once a week with time for overhauling.

Establishment of this line between the oceans will be invaluable in sending samples, salesmen and mail. The pilsy is that it will take three years to get the first ship ready. Germany is building a ship bigger than the Akron, but America's monopoly on gas will give us also a monopoly of safe dirigible travel.
We are to have it. More about it later.

House Committee Acts on Mills' Statement That Revenue Bill Falls Short.

WASHINGTON, April 1—The house today completed consideration of amendments to the new revenue bill, estimated by the ways and means committee to produce $1,049,000,000 and prepared for final passage.

Among the final amendments adopted was one to apply the normal income tax rate to dividends paid on stocks, estimated to swell the total of the revenue bill by $80,000,000. The standing vote was 133 to 90.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills had informed the ways and means committee that the revenue bill as drawn originally would fall short of balancing the budget and the tax on dividend payments was adopted to help make up the shortage.

Sees $165,000,000 Lacking Mills estimated that the bill as it stands now would lack $165,000,000 of balancing the budget because the appropriations for the next fiscal year could not be trimmed $243,000,000 as the committee had estimated.

Speaker Garner, in a conference with newspapermen, said that "if Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mills would cooperate we could reduce expenses $250,000,000 without the least trouble."

"Instead of having that cooperation, every cabinet member is going over to the senate and yowling that we are ruining their departments," he said. "How are you going to get anywhere when that happens?"

"These same cabinet officers and
Mr. Hoover could save that $250-000,000 themselves if they wanted to. They refuse to do it. It could be done, it ought to be done and it will be done."

A last big drive on the billion dollar revenue bill, with passage as its climax, was on today in the house. It met determined to finish the tremendous tax raising task.

Record votes impeded before final passage of the bill on several of the most controverted sections.
Even a roll call on the general sales tax, thrown out in the heat of bitter wrangle, was sought though without real expectation that the decision would be reversed.

Acting Chairman Crisp, Democrat of Georgia, of the ways and means group, sought to have thrown out an amendment by the sales tax revoltors to restore wartime surtax rates on incomes above $100,000. The taxes on oil imports and on foreign coal also were subject to roll calls.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF NOTED PHYSICIAN

Surgeon Who Twice Performed Operations on Self Dies in Pennsylvania.

By The Associated Press
KANE, Pa., April 1—Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, 72, who attained nationwide note in 1919 by removing his own appendix and who recently performed a second operation upon himself, died today.

The surgeon, long prominent for his work in treatment of cancer, died after a siege of pneumonia.
He has been in ill health for several weeks.

A few months ago, Dr. Kane performed the second operation on himself to relieve hernia. As was the case in his first feat, he used a local anaesthetic and mirrors.
He said the operation was successful.

The surgeon was active in seeking legislation controlling surgical and medical practice. He regarded the appendix as a source of many ills and several years ago advocated compulsory removal of children's appendix.

He also favored laws requiring a physician to file with public authorities his diagnosis of each serious case. An autopsy would be held if a patient died, and then the diagnosis would be checked to determine if it was correct. Dr.
Kane said such a procedure would prevent incompetent physicians from practicing.

Dr. Kane was married twice. His first wife, Florence Street, died in 1910. His second wife, Mrs. Kane, died in 1928.

TEACHERS NOT TO GET PAID

Bucyrus School Term Shortened Two Weeks as Tax Cut Looms.

BOARD FACES SHORTAGE

Advance Draw To Meet Salaries Due Monday; Delay Brings Crisis.

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS, O., April 1—Bucyrus teachers will face two payless months and schools will be closed two weeks earlier as a result of a probable shortage of funds and the uncertainty of the tax situation in Crawford county.

An advance draw of $30,000 on the December tax collections has been made by the board of education to meet the salaries of 70 teachers due Monday, pay interest and redeem bonds.

Superintendent E. N. Deitrich said that it is uncertain what the schools will do after that money is spent. Teachers are not likely to receive their salaries until next summer.

In anticipation of a major cut in tax income as a result in decreased property valuations and increased delinquent taxes, the board at a special session this morning cut the school term to nine months instead of the usual 38 weeks.

Delay in the payment of taxes due in the December collection brought the situation to a crisis.
In the past the December tax settlement was made April 1. But since the time for the payment of taxes has been extended to April 20, the date for the settlement is uncertain and the school funds are depleted. The amount of funds available for operating the schools will not be known until the final settlement is made.

SECOND MAN BOUND OVER IN BUS HOLDUP

Judge Martin Holds Frank Ferguson to Grand Jury
on Robbery Charge.

HELD ON $15,000 BOND

Two Witnesses Identify Prisoner as One of Men in Feb. 28 Robbery.

Frank Ferguson, 29, of Columbus, was bound over to the grand jury under $15,000 bond on a charge of robbing the Marion Rapid Transit Co. office of $282.50 Feb. 28 when he was given preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge William J.
Martin this morning.

Two witnesses called by City Prosecutor John Wiedmann identified Ferguson as one of the two men who staged the holdup. They are Ray Maag, manager of the transit company and Everett Smith, one of the seven holdup victims.

Will Try for Bond
An effort is being made to raise bond for both Ferguson and Mike Chione, 29, of Columbus, who Tuesday was bound over to the grand jury on $15,000 bond for complicity in the same holdup.

Maag and Smith were the only witnesses called. Both briefly reviewed details of the holdup pointed to Ferguson as one of the hold-up men, and submitted to cross examination by Homer Johnson, counsel for Ferguson.

Ferguson was not obliged to speak at any time during the hearing. He watched the witnesses closely, and smiled occasionally at their answers to attorneys' questions.

Both Ferguson and Smith smiled at the compliment when Maag, on the witness stand, said they "both had pretty hair." This testimony was in answer to a question of Ferguson's attorney regarding the similarity in appearance of Smith and Ferguson.

Hear Robbery Broadcast Maag testified that the other six men in the office during the hold-up were listening to police broadcasts on a low wave radio set at the time of the holdup. The Chicago police department was broadcasting details of a drug store holdup to the cruiser cars at the time of the station holdup, he said.

FILES SUIT TO CUT OFFICIALS' SALARIES

Hardin County Man Contends Rate Under 1920 Census Illegal.

By The Associated Press
KENTON, O., April 1—A suit to test the legality of salary payments to county officials under the 1920 census, was entered in common pleas court here today by two Lima firms of attorneys on behalf of Sol Bordenkircher.

The plaintiff named the county auditor, probate judge, common pleas judge and clerk of courts as defendants, contending that they are being paid under the 1920 census, and that since Hardin county's population dwindled under the 1930 census, the salaries should be reduced accordingly.

The attorneys for the plaintiff,
T. A. Conway and Henderson, Durbin and Henderson, said they would carry the case to the state supreme court if necessary. They added the decision will affect officials of 40 counties where populations increased, and officials of a similar number of counties where populations showed decreases.

FIND MARION CLUE IN DEATH

Woman Who Jumped to Death from Hotel Window May Have Lived Here.

FIND NAME ON TAPE

Believe Victim of Tragedy
May Be Former Lydia Bishop.

Burial of a woman who may be Mrs. Lydia Bishop Lowenthal, former resident of Marion, was postponed today in Cleveland while detectives investigated information sent them by Mrs. M. L.
Caldwell of 530 north Greenwood street.

The woman leaped to her death from the eleventh floor of a Cleveland hotel Wednesday and preparations were under way to bury the body in Potter's field when a photograph and a description sent by Mrs. Caldwell stopped proceedings.

Mrs. Caldwell sent the information after reading of the death and that a piece of adhesive tape on the handle of a reading glass found in the woman's hotel room bore the letters "L. B." The remaining letters having been obliterated.

According to Mrs. Caldwell, her sister, Lydia Bishop, left here 10 years ago to live in Cleveland, after marrying a man by the name of Lowenthal. She never returned here and wrote infrequently until four years ago when the letters stopped altogether. Her mother, Mrs. Louise Diller of 183 Elm avenue attempted to trace her whereabouts several years ago, but was not successful.

If the identification is made, the body will be brought to Marion for funeral services and burial.

The only mark of identification in a scar on her left cheek, her sister said. Lydia Bishop Lowenthal would be about 32 years of age, now Lydia Bishop of 514 north Greenwood street is the father of the missing woman and Harley Bishop of the same address is a brother.

The Cleveland safety director, Frank Merrick, after a conference with police officials, expressed doubt the woman was the former Marion resident.

At the same time a new mystery developed when Thomas Le Han, attendant at the county morgue where the woman's body was taken, revealed a well dressed man looked at the body yesterday then ran from the building shouting "That's her."

"I'll be back," the man said, but he did not return.

The photograph sent by Mrs.
Caldwell was compared with one taken of the body, but showed insufficient resemblance to establish identification, an Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland reported this afternoon. Merrick, however, said he would telegraph Mrs. Caldwell, asking her to come to Cleveland to view the remains.

G. O. P. LEADER IN HOUSE DIES

WASHINGTON, April 1—Representative Albert H. Vestal of Indi-house, died of heart disease today at the naval hospital.

Vestal's death was announced by Sergeant-at-Arms Kenneth Romney of the house. Two days ago Vestal collapsed and was sent to the naval hospital. Vestal, who was 67 years old, was elected to the 66th congress from the Eighth Indiana district and had served continuously since then.

75,000 UNION MINERS QUIT

Bituminous Coal Industry in Three States Paralyzed by Strike.

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT
25,000 Workmen Idle in Ohio; No Trouble Expected in Any Field.

CHICAGO, April 1—America's united bituminous coal belt was in distress today.

From Illinois east to the West Virginia panhandle, hundreds of mine tips were closed; approximately 75,000 miners were without work, and there was no indication when operations would resume.

Last midnight was the closing hour.

In Illinois, failure of miners and operators to agree on a new wage contract, after four weeks of conferences, ended between 4,000 and 45,000 diggers to the jobless list.

Four thousand more men were thrown out of work in a similar situation in Indiana's deep shaft mines. The Indiana mine owners and laborers had adjourned their conference pending outcome of the Illinois meeting and neither group made any last-minute attempts to stall off this suspension.

In Illinois and Indiana, the shutdown was neither a strike nor shutout. There was no agreement to continue operations.

In both states, efforts were escorted on Page Ten.

JURY DEBATES GUILT OF KIDNAPING TRIO

Court Rules Out Compromise Verdict; Defendants Either Guilty or Innocent.

By The Associated Press
DENVER, Colo., April 1—An assignment to convict or acquit three men on the specific charge of kidnaping Benjamin F. Bowser for ransom was made before a jury here today.

District Judge Robert W. Steele, replying to an inquiry by C. M.

mise verdict would be accepted in the trial of George Reed, Joe Pen-

SOCIAL SCIONS BANK MESSENGERS

Scions of one of Chicago's "first families"—Potter D'Orsay Palmer (left) and his brother Honore Palmer Jr.—are shown at a desk in the messenger department of a Chicago bank. The only concession they make to their wealth is the use of taxicabs for errands.

teria until the famous nerve specialist, Dr. Voelgyesi, "broke the spell" by counter-hypnosis.

Others testified that the gypsy had hypnotized them into selling farms and orchards for a song. One peasant said he signed over a piece of land to her for $1 merely to escape her bewitching influence.

The government, however, stepped in when Madam Dobray's ambitions rose too high. She hypnotized a wealthy peasant into giving his beautiful 17-year-old daughter in marriage to her 19-year-old son, with an enormous dowry. Preparations were made for a big feast. The girl's protests went unheeded. The morning of the wedding she was found dead in her father's barn, hanging from the rafters of the hay loft. She had used her siren's voice to lure her son.

Madam Dobray was arrested and convicted despite the testimony of the famous psychologist, Professor Feldmann, who said that her alleged hypnotic powers were due merely to auto-suggestion on the part of superstitious and illiterate peasants.

CINCINNATI FAVORS HIGH-POWER BEER

By International News Service
CINCINNATI, O., April 1.—This may be a little premature, but how much alcohol do you want in your legalized beer, when and if?

The Cincinnati chamber of commerce believes four and one-half per cent would be about right.

A suggestion by Ed Brink, candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress, that the 275 per cent alcoholic content would be strong enough, got a chilly reception.

The matter came up at a chamber of commerce mass meeting held to discuss the advisability of endorsing a resolution seeking repeal of the brewing industry, once highly important to Cincinnati, through modification of the Volstead law.

As drawn up by the special tax committee of the organization, the resolution proposed a six-cent-a-pint tax on four and one-half per cent beer. Brink's suggestion, although backed by only two others, delayed final action on the resolution.

VETERAN CARRIER ENDS MAIL SERVICE

By International News Service
MECHANICSBURG, O., April 1.—Today, Harry Wood, veteran rural mail carrier of Mechanicburg, will hang up his leather mail bag for the last time and step out of the harness for the first time in 33 and 1-3 years with the record of being one of the oldest men in point of service in the rural mail delivery history of the state and nation.

Starting in a third of a century ago to work for Uncle Sam as a rural mail carrier, Wood drew $400 a year as his salary and earned every penny of it many times over, traveling the long and sometimes tedious route with only one or two absences in all that time. He recalls the mud roads he once was called upon to traverse to deliver the mail and contrasts them with the highways of today.

Wood not only has gained fame through his postal service, but he also owns Worty Wood, 2,024, the champion trotting gelding of Ohio in 1930 and 1931 and winner in 1931 of the noted Transylvania race at Lexington.

MRS. HOOVER TO BE WOOSTER GUEST

By International News Service
WOOSTER, O., April 1.—Preparations for Wooster's gala pageant here May 14 to be held in conjunction with Wooster college's annual color day were given added impetus following assurance that Mrs. Herbert Hoover, first lady of the land, would attend the celebration.

Mrs. Hoover's great-grandparents once lived in this vicinity and owned most of the land on which the city now stands. It was recalled. The pageant will depict this as well as other eras in the development of the city and also of Wooster college.

The president's wife, in response to an invitation from President Charles F. Wishart, of the college, responded that she would attend the festivities unless some unforeseen duties prevented her.

work. We are up against a situation which is only a part of what is wrong with the economic system. Nothing has been done about the economic system. There is a group of men in the United States, private or public, who will come together and plan an industrial system that will have a correlation between production and consumption," he said.

Speaker quoted government figures to show that from 24 to 25 millions of people in the United States are without any means of support, he said, and in answer to a question, "Why don't they work?" he said: "What is the good of working money if the government will not protect the institution in which the people place their savings?"

When all is said and done, the greatness of a nation and of the world depends principally upon its spiritual construction," the rabbi said.

The United States stands alone in the history of war," he continued. "Other nations went to war with selfish purposes. It was left for the United States to show that men could go and fight for principles. We went into every war with our hands clean and came out clean. Underneath is spiritualism and idealism."

Divorce was hit in his following words: "If divorce increases, we must face the fact that there is something radically wrong with the attitude of people to marriage and the home."

167 WEST CENTER STREET
JUST ONE RICHMAN STORE IN MARION

"Once upon a time marriage was something sacred and holy. Today, at the time people are married, they say, 'Well, if we don't make a go of it it is easy to get a divorce.' Marriage is more important than a profession or a career because man's fundamental happiness lies in marriage."

In speaking of the relationship of the parents and children, he said: "Once upon a time the voice of the parent was law. Today the young people of six and upward put themselves up against their parents and demand what they consider to be their rights."

Experience Needed

"But they do not recognize that no matter how smart they are, there is one thing they do not have that age has—experience—experience that grows in body and soul."

"Let them think their way through, but in these trying days, guide them with experience. The voice of authority is not enough. We have to substitute reason and love for authority. You can not force them anymore. It takes wisdom and psychology to be a parent today."

Another "wrong" is with the church of today and the encroachment of science, the rabbi said. "The church is losing its grip," he declared, adding, "When religion dies in a country, that country is going in the wrong direction. 'The church must change its outlook,' he declared. 'What difference does it make if God created the world in six days or six million years, so long as the people recognize that there is one force that is guiding its destiny and theirs?'"

In his closing few minutes, he discussed the "wrongs" of nations, saying: "If there is anything wrong with the world today it is the fact that we have forgotten the ideal of brotherhood. We have preached it but have not practiced it."

"One thing we have to remember in the twentieth century is that if civilization is to survive, it can only survive when it becomes conscious that there is a solution in brotherhood. We shall have solved the problem of human destiny, we shall have brought the Kingdom of Heaven and placed it upon the earth."

Rabbi Tarshish commended highly the American Legion as an organization, the Bird-McGinnis post in particular, not only in its work to aid the milk fund, but also for its part in the Marion-at-work campaign.

He was introduced by Commander J. W. Llewellyn of the Legion post, following remarks of appreciation to the public for the support given to the cause for which the Legion sponsored the lecture.

The advance of colors, led by the band and bugle corps of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. E., was an impressive part in the opening of the lecture. T. O. Showers and T. E. Kinnear were color bearers with Lawrence Foreman and Clyde Caldwell as guards.

The Harding High school orchestra, directed by T. R. Evans, played a group of numbers preceding the opening of the program.

A wire from Wilton Junction, Iowa, states that a star high school football player suffered makes no mention of what happened to the did the kicking.

Scientists of the Mellon Institute of Indusby reports from some of our large cities, the official practice has been to extract "sugar" from structural work, rather than add sugar to it.

try. Mr. Hearst evidently was a close observer of the antics of the house last week and has since had his finger on the pulse of the country.

St. Peter's Dome Half Restored.

Word comes from Vatican City that the work of restoring the dome of St. Peter's cathedral is half done. Eight of the sixteen buttresses supporting it have been strengthened, broken stones being replaced with new ones, and it is the opinion of architects that, when the other eight have been similarly strengthened, it will remain solid for ages to come.

It had been known for years that there were cracks in the mighty dome, some of which are thought to have appeared very probably soon after its construction 340 years ago.

Eight years ago, Victor Haffner, a young American architect, made drawings of these cracks and sounded a danger alarm. Five years ago Pope Pius ordered a thorough investigation, and commissioned Senator Luca Beltrami, as chief engineer and architect, to make the restoration. The latter, exculpating Michael Angelo, the designer, put the blame for the trouble on the poor work done after Michael Angelo's death, and decided to replace all weakened stone, instead of patching them up, and thus remove the cause of the cracks.
Two or three years more, and the work on the remaining eight buttresses will have restored them to their original strength and all cause for fear of further cracking removed.

It is something of a coincidence that St.
Paul's cathedral in London was threatened in the same way, the immense weight of its dome proving too great for the piers planned by Sir Christopher Wren to support it. The work of strengthening the piers by forcing cement into borings made into them was but recently completed and the portion of the edifice under the dome, which had been closed for more than six years, reopened to the public.

The dome of St. Peter's is 138 feet in diameter and that of the London cathedral, completed about two and a quarter centuries after it, is 102. It may be argued that the weight of such domes is too great to be withstood through centuries; that gradually the supporting masonry under it will weaken.

However, the Eternal City possesses a building which offers a refutation of this view. Not so far from St. Peter's is the Pantheon, the best preserved ancient structure in Rome.
What it has suffered has not been the result of architectural or structural weaknesses, but have been wholly due to the ruthless assaults of man, its despoilers having taken materials from it for other structures. While the dome of the Pantheon is far from so high as that of either St. Peter's in Rome, or St. Paul's in London, and its weight far less, still its diameter of 144 feet is greater than that of either, and it has been standing the assaults of more than eighteen centuries, the Pantheon having been used continuously as a place of worship since 110 A. D., at which time it was restored by the Emperor Hadrian.

Observations by Mr. Vandenberg.

Senator A. H. Vandenberg uttered certain observations on tariffs the early part of this week. Among other contributions to discussion of the potential issue, he gave the term
"hitch hikers" to the senate to use for designating Democrats who vote for tariffs and talk against them.

In passing, he observed that "hitch-hikers always may be dangerous passengers. They are liable to assault one before the ride is over; they are calculated to sue one for damages if an accident occurs; they contribute nothing to the journey except their own dead weight; and tariff hitch hikers are no different from any other hitch hikers in that respect."

The real value of Senator Vandenberg's pointed remarks, however, was in a summary of opinion which he had gathered from speakers in twenty-five important protected American industries. "It occurred to me," he explained, "that it might be wise, for a change, to consult key men in key industries themselves, instead of merely our political inclinations and our political dogma, to determine whether or not there is any truth in the oft-repeated charge that the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill is responsible in some degree for recent unemployment."

Without exception, the answers received by the Michigan senator showed appreciation of the Smoot-Hawley bill for having been of assistance in protecting the industries represented and having maintained higher levels of employment than would have been possible otherwise. In other words, the protective tariff philosophy is considered by industrialists and employers, not as Republican, but American, and is embraced as ardently by Democrats, where the interests of their constituents are concerned, as by Republicans. Senator Van-denberg's "hitchhikers" deserves a place alongside Senator Mokes "sons of the wild jackass" as a new name for an old type of legislator.

There may be something in the story of a plot to kill Joseph Stalin, the Russian dictator, reported by the French Communist newspaper, L'Humanite, but it is more likely to prove the staging of an excuse for a few more butcheries.

Liberty bonds and other securities of a total value of $35,000 were found in the shack of a night watchman at Ridgeway, Pennsylvania, who for years had bought only over-ripe fruit and stale bread for food. There wasn't anything mean, however, about the funeral his townspeople arranged. His body was laid away in a $1,000 casket, and there were all the lavish floral display and other trimmings that go therewith, the community having knowledge that his estate was "good for it."

The Craze for "Rabbit Food."

So general has become the belief that spinach possesses great virtue as a foodstuff especially conducive to health, that surprise is naturally occasioned by its designation as "rabbit food" by a doctor of eminence in his profession, who goes further and holds that much of the indigestion prevalent is due to the "craze" for eating it and kindred roushage.

In addressing the Missouri Valley Medical society assembled in Omaha, Nebraska, a day or two ago, Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, of Rochester, Minnesota, thus referred to the green stuff in deploring the widespread view that rough foodstuffs are absolutely necessary to health, a view which he held erroneous.

The doctor takes the very sensible position that there is merit in that old one to the effect that what may be pudding for one may be poison for another. While growing children, as a rule, may thrive on a balanced diet, he said, there are children who suffer from rough foods just the same as do many grown-ups.
"The roughage diet is all right," he went on to say, "for those who have the digestion of an ostrich. It sometimes cures them of indigestion, but it often causes sensitive persons a lot of trouble. It is not well to try to make everybody eat the same food." The doctor concluded by estimating that the "rabbit food craze" is worth at least $300 a month to "any good stomach specialist."

If Dr. Alvarez has not already sinned beyond forgiveness by betraying by his estimate what has many of the earmarks of a professional secret, it would be interesting to have him go a bit further and state if carrots come within the "rabbit food" classification. It would be satisfying to have a very general listing professionally confirmed.

The New York City woman who sued her husband for divorce, charging misrepresentation before their marriage of his financial condition, failed to secure a decree. The court possibly realized that the financial condition of a man before and after marriage might vary considerably.

Sir Joseph Stamp, economic advisor to Great Britain, at present visiting this country, says that the international economic situation can not be righted until Americans regain confidence. Does Sir Joseph mean confidence in ourselves or in Europe? There's a difference.

The baggage master at Van Nuys, California, noting that two uncalled-for crates contained domestic rabbits, proceeded to feed the bunnies and counted twenty-four.
The next day there were thirty-six, and two days later an even four dozen. To save a man of kindly spirit from bankruptcy, somebody should tip him off to call up the state authorities down in Columbus. Contemplating entering the rabbit-raising industry, the state of Ohio may be able to work him relief.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler is quoted as saying that "he who carries water on both shoulders may end by finding that no water has been entrusted to him to carry." Or find, Doctor, that he's all wet.

The Seabury commission has brought out that the realty holdings of the public works commissioner of New York City, which consisted of a house and lot at the time he assumed the office in 1918 have grown into properties valued at between $300,000 and $400,000, and that he meanwhile deposited $84,000.05 in banks. Well say that municipal office holding in New York City is mighty remunerative.

JUST AN APRIL FOOL DREAM.

Editorial Opinion.

SCOTCH BUT NO JOKE.

For some reason the jokesmiths have overlooked the fact that a Scotsman invented the adhesive postage stamp, one of those things modern generations take for granted. Actually it will be only ninety-eight years in August since James Chalmers, of Dundee, experimented in his shop by giving the back of stamps printed from ordinary type a wash of gum. Chalmers was interested in improving the postal service. Twelve years earlier he had been successful in getting speedier mail delivery—forty-eight hours each way—between London and Scotland.

In 1837 Sir Rowland Hill's pamphlet on postal reform led to reduction of rates and their regulation by the treasury. Hill also brought the adhesive stamp to the attention of the British government, which offered premiums for the best proposals for bringing stamps into use.
The four considerations were: convenience for public use, security against forgery, facility of checking and distinguishing in a post-office, and the expense of production and circulation.

Not until May, 1840, were adhesive stamps issued officially in Great Britain. In 1843 the Swiss canton of Zurich adopted such stamps, which came into the America by way of Brazil and were not in use in the United States until 1847, though New York put out a tentative issue in 1845.

Records show that in 1850 the United States used 1,540,545 postage stamps. This was one of the few years in which gross revenues of the postoffice department have exceeded its expenditures. In 1930 this government issued 10,288,560,071 stamps. From a gross expenditure in 1850 of $5,212,953, the amount has grown to $803,667,219 for 1930, with revenues of $705-484,008.

Out of Chalmers' invention has developed the business of stamp collecting, often highly profitable to those with a knowledge of philately.
In London, in 1931, more than $2,500,000 were spent at stamp auctions. King George himself has a notable stamp collection. Governments have whetted the appetite for new and different stamps by commemorative issues.

The shade of the Scotsman who gave us stamps that stick may be equally uneasy over the burden of the postal deficit and the sums expended by stamp collectors. To say nothing of his responsibility for those state jokes about the flavor of the mulligatawny.—Detroit Free Press.

DEATH AND TAXES.

Of life's two major certainties death may still be the more certain, but taxes surely are more immediately disturbing to most of us.
Even the most devout among us probably fear death in a vague and unreasoning way. But all are emphatically disgusted with the mounting burden of taxation which still piles higher each time the newspapers appear on the streets.

Falling into its customary rhythm as a political machine the house of representatives is approving without important change a program of taxation indorsed by the ways and means committee to replace the defeated sales tax. For sheer imaginative power the bill probably has never been equaled in American history. If the gentlemen of the ways and means committee have forgotten some remote item that might be taxed successfully it does not come to mind.

The ten per cent. levy on yachts doubtless will not disturb many of us. But who does not use matches? Sadder and wiser than we were in 1920, most of us need not fear a tax on security transfers. But precocious few families—save those of resolute bachelors—will escape the levy against cosmetics.

In short, no one has been neglected. Like an inverted Santa Claus, the ways and means committee has cut a swath across the American pocketbook that misses no one. The poorest medicant and the richest multimillionaire alike will feel the new pressure of governmental extravagance.

It is useless to bewail the higher taxes. It was necessary to balance the budget, at whatever cost. This has been done, substantially.
But the major task that confronted the congress at this session still remains untouched—the task of deflating a swollen bureaucracy costing thirty-five per cent. more than it should. Since our congress failed the duty falls on us as citizens to choose a group of men to that body who will bring expenditures down to a level commensurate with the income of the nation.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Keep Your Mind Sound.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

There are scientists who claim that thoughts are things. They contend that thoughts can actually be weighed and measured; that thoughts have color. They claim that these facts have been actually proved by tests in some of the universities.

It is certain that by dwelling upon thoughts of poverty, personal limitation, unhappiness or disease, we erect barriers of negative thinking, as the scientists say. We can never obtain plenty, happiness or health if our thinking is wrong. We do not and can not progress.

The truth is, we can go no further than we consent to go. I wish you would write that down, and remember it. We can go no further than we will to go.

Is it not a fact that we imagine first and then produce? The artist does this, the musician, the writer, the architect, and so on.

How is it with you?
Through the mind we take command of ourselves. By correct thinking we tap the unlimited supply, the great substance, call it God, spirit, or whatever you may. We should train ourselves to think beyond food, shelter and clothing. We should exclaim "Build thou more stately mansions, Oh, my soul!"

Electricity, life and love are in the realm of which I am speaking. You can not see these.
You see their manifestations. But is there anything more real than electricity, life and love?

Since we exist in a world of sense, we are accustomed to saying that success depends largely upon the control we exercise over our physical senses, such as seeing, hearing, smelling, tasting and touching. But there are finer senses which we must consider, such as scientific thought, intuition, telepathy, perhaps, and spiritual discernment.

I do not for a moment discount the importance of a sound body for the functioning of a sound mind; but I also know that it works the other way around. A sound mind is important for the functioning of a sound body.
In a way, blood is liquid life. Mind is the instrument which uses the liquid life, as the dynamo is the instrument which uses electricity.

I am sure you will believe that the power of mind can be used constructively in building, or destructively in tearing down, just as electricity can be used for lighting and cooking—or for executions.

So we must order our living not only with regard to the needs of the body, but also to make our minds operate sanely and wisely.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

F.H.H. Q.—What causes my face to break out?

A.—You should correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food and avoid constipation. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

B.O. Q.—How can I reduce?

A.—Cutting down on sweets and starches and taking lots of exercise should keep your weight down and benefit your system at the same time. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E.D. Q.—What do you advise for blackheads?

A.—First correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food.
For full particulars send self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

H.DeL. Q.—I am troubled with acne on the neck and shoulders—what treatment do you advise?

A.—What can I do to prevent my hair from turning gray—I am only 24 years of age?

A.—Watch your diet and elimination and be sure that your system is functioning regularly every day. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your
question.

2.—There is nothing you can do once the hair has started to turn gray, with the possible exception of using a hair dye which is not advisable. If the hair is healthy and well groomed the fact that it is turning gray will not prove a detriment. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your
question.

B.L.G. Q.—For years I have been troubled with halitosis—what is the cause and what treatment will clear it up?

A.—This disturbance may be due to a number of causes—constipation being the most frequent cause. For full particulars send a self-
question.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tattooing in London.

BY W. G. QUENBERY

London, April 1.—A few days from the shop of a Waterbury bridge is a little shop, over the door of which are the words "Professor Burchett, Tattoo Artist." Strange sights, as might be expected, are to be seen there.

Natural, the rights are not for the delectation of the eye, but for the delectation of the fingers. Burchett, indeed, has all the privacy of a respectable surgeon's office. But the professor can be induced to talk.

"A number of titled women are among my clients," he may tell you proudly. "Often I see a great beauty in the paper and realize that she was the woman upon whose legs I tattooed, say, a butterfly not long ago."

The professor rambles on about the Mayfair circles who have come to him, carefully avoiding their identities.
"I often wonder why Lady—well, why one well-known woman got me to put two large green snakes around her."

A London surgeon, whose name is often seen in the newspapers, has been decorated with similar thoroughness, Professor Burchett says.
But many of the professor's customers come there for ordinary beauty treatments.

"I have just finished an actor," he said, "I put some color in his cheeks and whitened his nose. Now he looks like a new man."

"Some of my clients, however, are more mysterious. One man recently insisted that a scar should be tattooed across his face, and a woman once brought in a child to have two small birthmarks tattooed upon it."

But the one I enjoyed most was a sea captain. Every time he finished a long voyage he used to come around and have the names of his latest sweethearts tattooed on his chest.
After ten years it looked like a directory.

Then one day he married. Soon he was back at the shop. "Try and see if you can get out some of those names," he said. "My wife don't mind the Elbens and the Janes so much, but she won't stand for the Lolas and Margarets."

Burchett complains that the dignity of their post office officials is costing them $25,000 a year.

Unlike postal officers of other nations, they despise to recognize the hobby of stamp-collecting and every day throw thousands of valuable specimens away.

Since they do not profit by them, they will not allow any one else to do so. Any collector who tries to save these stamps is deemed guilty of a serious misdemeanor, and contractors for the destruction of waste paper who try to increase their profits by selling stamps to dealers are liable to find their contracts cancelled.

The officials contend that the post office might be defrauded by the reuse of stamps that had accidentally escaped cancellation. The stamp collectors say such a possibility is remote in view of the efficiency of modern postal methods.

The Harrison Campaign of 1840.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

The strenuous work of the campaign for his election to the presidency in 1840 is said to have told more severely on the strength of General William Henry Harrison than all of the hardships of the pioneer life, and military campaigns that he had earlier experienced. The voters of the country were stirred to greater heights of political enthusiasm than in any other campaign up until that time. There was an insistence upon seeing and hearing the candidate that was not to be denied.

The result was that he was kept traveling by the rough means of transportation of that day, for several months, subjected to irregularities as to eating and sleeping, and called upon to speak frequently and at great length, until the General of the campaign found him exhausted, and preparations for taking over the presidency did the rest. He was a tired old man when he was inaugurated and lived just one month.

At a campaign meeting at Urbana on September 15, 1840, there is an instance of what the general went through at that time. People went on horseback from all nearby counties by the thousands. General Harrison also traveled on horseback.

The candidate spoke for two hours, and the audience did not want to let him say the last word. There was a great throng in the evening at which the General was served an libitum, but it was sweet and there was no drunkenness or disorder resulting from that.

SEEK RESPONSIBILITY IN RADIUM POISONING

Medical Examiners Launch Probe into Unusual Death of Sportsman.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 1.—Eben Mac Burney Byers' death from radium poisoning spurred the medical examiners' office to start an inquiry today to see if it is a lived anomaly.

With his bones breaking down under an agonizing battering of alpha particles, the wealthy Pittsburgh iron manufacturer and internationally known sportsman, succumbed yesterday.

Dr. Frederick B. Flinn, radium expert, said death resulted from drinking "a widely advertised radium water" as a tonic.

Last September Dr. Joseph M. Steiner, New York specialist, had told the trade commission Mr. Byers would die of a brain abscess resulting from radium.

Byers testified he drank 1,400 bottles of a product known as "Radium" later the commission forbade the Bailey Radium Laboratories, Inc., of East Orange, N. J., from advertising their product "Radium" as harmless.

Menigitis and pneumonia only speeded the death which had been inevitable for a year, Dr. Flinn said.

Physicians pointed out the case was not to be confused with the use of radium in cancer treatment. In the latter cases the radium is not used internally.

STARLIGHT CLASS IS ENTERTAINED

A program consisted of piano solos by Ada Alexander and Helen McCleary, a reading by Rev. H. H. Maxwell, pastor, and a play by the host, Floyd Robinson, Dale Needles and Anita Christ.

Allen Maxwell and Violet Sharp were named a program committee for the May meeting. Floyd Robinson will have charge of a devotional service.

Here Are Provisions of Ohio's Relief Program

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Ohio today was prepared to care for her needy. Here's the relief program as suggested by Governor White and adopted by the general assembly.

Increased the excise taxes on the intra-state business of the electric light, gas, natural gas, waterworks, telephone, messenger or signal, union depot, heating, cooling, water transportation, and telegraph public utilities by one per cent over a period of five years.

Increased by .15 of one per cent the tax on the capital property allocated to intra-state business in Ohio of sleeping car, freight line and equipment companies.

The railroads, pipe lines and express companies were not affected by the utility tax increase.

Commission To Be Named
Provided for appointment of an official state relief commission of five representative citizens by the governor.

Authorized counties to issue bonds, with the approval of the relief commission and the state tax commission, and for relief work only, to be redeemed from the utilities taxes allocated to each in proportion to the county's population, tax duplicate and public utilities.

Provided that any funds accruing from the utilities tax and not expended for relief purposes shall be placed in the county sinking fund for retirement of any other outstanding bonds.

Required that the state relief commission be the governing body in the administration of relief in the state.

Authorized counties and cities, when all other relief funds are exhausted, to issue bonds up to one-tenth of one per cent of the general tax duplicate of the city or county, provided permission first is obtained of the state relief commission and the state tax commission, and that the bonds are within the five per cent of the tax duplicate and 15 mill tax limitations.

Bonds Authorized
Authorized boards of education to administer relief to needy school children by applying to county commissioners for additional funds when immediate moneys are exhausted.

Authorized counties and cities to divert their portion of the gasoline and motor vehicle license taxes for relief purposes.

The bills require that wherever possible the agency charged with administering the unemployment relief shall require labor in exchange except where the persons receiving the relief are incapacitated and unable to work.

The program is expected by the administration to make more than $23,000,000 available for relief purposes during the remainder of 1932.

Gov. White's Relief Plan Is Enacted Four-Point Program Adopted by Legislature with Minor Changes.

Robert A. Taft, Republican of Cincinnati, had passed both branches of the assembly. The governor said in his message that the tax law was new and that many individuals and corporations have been somewhat confused in making their returns.

"Outside" Proposals Killed
Although three non-administration measures were thrown into the senate hopper only one reached the house and it was killed on the floor.

The bill of Senator Frank E. Whittemore, Republican of Akron, to authorize diversion of surplus funds of municipally owned utilities to the general fund for relief purposes was enacted in the senate but tabled in the house.

Agitation for a special session started early last winter when many of the large cities of Ohio pleaded for state aid, claiming their relief funds were exhausted.

The pleas were repeatedly made. After a survey of the relief funds available, the governor called the extraordinary session to meet last Tuesday.

Mayors of the eight large cities claimed the governor's program would provide insufficient moneys and they at one time recommended that 75 per cent of the state's share of the gasoline tax collections be diverted for relief.

The opening of the legislature, however, found the mayors without concrete suggestions and the majority of them decided to approve the governor's plan.

Automobile Arrives for Display Purposes by Local Dealer.

The first 1932 eight cylinder Ford arrived here today. It was announced at the E. C. Watters Ford garage on east center street. Due to a delay in the arrival of a shipment of the new cars at the assembly plant in Columbus, the Watters company was unable to obtain a model for the formal announcement of the new car Thursday.

The car, a de luxe four-door sedan arrived at noon and was placed on display.

Toad "Classic" on Today's Program
By The Associated Press
PALM SPRINGS, Calif., April 1.—Whoopie, entered by Eddie Cantor and Schoenitz, a fast stepper whose owner, Jimmy Durante, expects will win by a nose, ruled favorites to win today's international horned toad derby in Palm Canyon.

More than 100 of the country's fastest toad racers have been entered including one each by Governors James Rolph, Jr. of California, George W. P. Hunt of Arizona, Governor Calles of Sonora, Mexico, and Governor Olachea of Baja, California.

The race will be held this afternoon, following a fiesta.

Carter Condition Continues "Fair"
Little change was noted today in the condition of William Carter, Negro, confessed murderer of Green G. Miller, 73, of DeCliff. Carter, who underwent an abdominal operation at the City hospital yesterday morning for drainage of an abscess, continued "fair," according to hospital attaches. He is awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. The abdominal condition necessitating an operation resulted from wounds suffered in an exchange of shots with R. E. Kemp, Newark grocer, during an attempted holdup in January.

Notices Sent Auditors
By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—The state tax commission today issued an order to all county auditors to extend the time for receiving tax returns without penalty, in accordance with the law enacted by the general assembly last night fixing April 20 as the final date for filing such returns.

Relief of Needy Is Aim of City Street Program
The amount of money that will be available as the time for applying the oil approaches, will determine whether or not Marion's will improved streets and alleys will receive their annual treatment of oil this year. Service Director E. O. Unceper said today.

While oiling does much to preserve the surface of the street, the service director said, its application requires practically no local labor and special stress this year, he said, would be placed on that kind of street work which would require the greatest amount of labor in order to provide work for as many of the city's unemployed as possible.

Figures showed that the city had provided 764 days' work to the unemployed since Jan. 20. During the period, according to the figures, 672 men worked for grocery orders while $2,194.40 was paid out by the city in cash for street work.

During January when the plan was first put into effect, 62 men worked for grocery orders and $188.40 was paid out by the city in cash for the 62 days work given each man at intervals. In February the number grew to 280 with $805.80 being paid out in cash and in March the number reached 330 with the cash totaling $1,055.20. The money for this purpose, the service director said is taken from the gasoline and auto license fund.

All of the unimproved streets of the city are in good condition, it was pointed out by the service director, and with the exception of filling in any holes which have formed over the winter, it is doubtful if much would be done on these streets.

Because the present bonded debt of the city is near the legal limit there will be no construction work done that would call for the issuing of bonds.

THEY'VE PUT A NEW EDGE ON GASOLINE

Heat-tempering makes molecules turn flip-flops

HELLO EVERYBODY!
Maybe it's a better five cent sugar that the country has needed the last couple of years. The lads up in Detroit—the boys who design and build automobiles—they are different.

They've been waiting for a new and better motor fuel—been disappointed in their tracks without it. They knew they had worked engine design up to the absolute limit of the ability of known fuel to push the piston and run the motor. They had no choice but to try something else. A different kind of fuel. The one thing vital to the production of fuel—oil—was the problem. It was the oil that the motor industry had to look to for a better fuel. And the oil they looked to in the form of gasoline. To which the Standard Oil Company and its subsidiaries, were looking in the most earnest way with science and engineering.

All that, I know, in a dim and distant way. It looked like a dead end. A dead end and a mighty tough break, too, for the oil men. But they didn't give up. They climbed back to prosperity.

Then I saw an inside clip from a friend of mine, a chemically-minded bird who knows more about automobile fuel than I do. He said that the Standard Oil Company of Ohio had some thing up its sleeve, and that certain other kinds of molecules were being set up in the Standard Oil plant in Cleveland where the oil is refined. They were being set up in a way that would make them turn flip-flops.

KITTY FREW

WENTY-SEVEN
I think I'll live in Paris all the rest of my life. Will you miss me, Gar?"

Gar had been touched by her confession, flattered. "I'll go after you and bring you back," he had answered quickly, vehemently. He had put his arm around her shoulder and kissed her. "Gosh, Marge, I'd miss you a lot! You can't go away!"

"Would you?" she had whispered against his arm.

He had straightened, smiling down at her.

"To prove that I think of you I sent you some flowers today—"

"Oh! Selby told me there were flowers—I haven't opened the box!" I thought they were from Somerset. How dear of you, Gar!"

"I didn't put in a card. I wanted to see if you remembered our old nonsense. The three pink roses—"

"Gar! How cute—that you remember. I love you! It wasn't nonsense—last winter, Gar!" Then she had drawn quickly away from him, pulled a cord that released a bright circle of light from a lamp at the end of the divan. She had flung back her shoulders, dramatically. "We're crazy, Gar, talking like this!"

A clock somewhere had chimed.

"Good gracious, I didn't dream it was so late!" Gar had sprung to his feet. "I've got to beat it. You can depend on me, Marge—about Somerset. And forget that going away stuff!"

"Thanks, Gar." Her voice had been sweet, a little plaintive.

Driving home Gar had frowned heavily, thinking of Somerset's presuming on an intimacy with Marge. He'd show him where he got off! It did not occur to him that Marge could have done that herself, weeks ago. He was all chivalry, all affection for Marge. What if she did go away to live in Paris?

But he had forgotten that when he reached home, Kitty and her eager, hungry embrace had met him at the door.

"You're going to wear your corset, aren't you?"

"Of course. It's in the ice-box."

"Well, so are you!"

"Do I look all right?"

"Beautiful. You're getting class, Kit. What are you doing? What beauty parlor are you going to? First thing I know I'll see your picture on some ad for cold cream or powder!"

Kitty laughed lightly. Gar's easy praise was intoxicating to her; she needed no new dress, she needed no artificial color on cheeks or lips. She brought the corset to him to pin on to her shoulder.

"But I love these, Gar. And orchids are so frightfully expensive!"

Gar laughed again. "Not when I'm sending them to you!"

They met the others at the Rainbow Gardens. They went there frequently; the head waiter always greeted them with particular concern that they should have the table they wanted. Often Kitty, following Gar into the crowd, thought of Josie, looked at her among the dancers and at the tables. She told Tubby much about Josie, and Tubby had laughed with her, but not at Josie, and she had liked him better for that.

There was to be 10 of them tonight, at a long table. Diana came with Buck Sewall. Red came alone. Tubby with Isabel Peters, others joined them. Tubby took the chair next to Kitty and began whispering in her ear.

"Say, you look out of sight tonight!"

"Tubby, this old dress. You see me in it every time I go anywhere!"

"I thought it was a new one, honest."

"You're silly!"

She warmed to his nonsense. Tubby amused her with his devotion, his clumsy humor. She felt at ease with him. With the others, at times like this, it was like playing a part in a play, the role of which she knew well now.

Gar was at the other end of the table. He had kept the chair next to him empty. He was watching the door. Presently he sprang to his feet. "Here's Marge!"

Marge approached the table with Paul Somerset. The others hailed her coming a little boisterously.

It was Gar, not Somerset, who took Marge's evening coat from her shoulders. "Sit here," he commanded, indicating the unoccupied chair next to him. It left one for Somerset across the table. "I'm on the job," he added in a low tone.

Marge lifted a deeply reproachful look to him as she slipped into the seat he had saved for her. Her fingers went significantly to the orchids against her shoulder. Her eyes traveled swiftly down the table and met Kitty's wide startled glance fixed on her. She laughed softly, her lips scarcely parting over the sound.

At their end of the table Tubby was deep in a story which he was pouring into Kitty's ear. All at once she became aware that she was not listening. He thought she spoke.

"What'd you say, Kitty?"

She turned back to him, her eyes blue-black, a heightened color on her cheeks. "Did I say anything? If I did—it was only that it was just silly, thinking it for a moment!"

"But what I'm tell you is gospel truth, Kit! I happened—to a fellow I know."

To Be Continued.

"Heart of a Wife"

—BY ADELE GARRISON—

Lillian Comes to Marge's Rescue and Gets Grantland Away Before Veritzen Calls to Explain His Plan.

INSIDE my room with the door locked, I struck my hands together in exasperation at my stupidity in asking Katie to give a message to Hugh Grantland concerning my headaches when Lillian, so equal to any emergency, was in the house. So disturbed had I been over Hugh's precipitate departure from the veranda, while I was answering Philip Veritzen's telephone call, that I had lost my poise, and seeking the first way out of my dilemma, had instructed my little maid to excuse my absence.

That this ruse would have no effect in limiting the time Hugh intended to spend in my father's room, I well knew, and I wasted no time in going to Lillian's room and telling her of my dilemma. When I had finished, she made a valiant effort to control her twitching lips, and then burst out laughing.

Lillian solves the problem.

"Forgive me," she said, after a second or two, wiping her eyes, "but I ask you, now— isn't the whole situation just a bit provocative to the risibles? Um—m"—she wrinkled her nose appreciatively. "I can see the headlines: 'Beautiful'

EX-CONVICTS GIVEN "NEW FACES"

DR. CRUM PERFORMING OPERATION

Re International News Service
NEW YORK—A new scheme has been added to the repertoire of our criminal element by the recent remarkable demonstration of plastic surgery performed before 1,000 persons, mostly women, at the convention of the International Association of Beauty Culturists in New York.

Those of our gangsters whose faces are becoming embarrassingly familiar to the police may now discard the old face and acquire a new one in less time than it takes to have a tooth extracted. A thug may go under the ether with a pain that resembles a battered ash-can lid and come out with the profile of a John Barrymore or a Clark Gable.

To the soothing music of "Sweet and Lovely," and "Call Me Darling," Dr. J. Howard Crum, famous plastic surgeon, aided by two assistants and a nurse, built up a new face on a woman who had voluntarily submitted herself as a subject for the demonstration.

Story of Her Past
The woman, whose identity was concealed by a mask, did not offer herself as a sacrifice in the cause of fair science. Her story is a strange one. It was explained that she spent 20 years in prison for killing her husband, and since her release has tried several times to make a living operating beauty shops.

She always failed in her enterprises because the acid of tragedy had etched indelible lines upon her face which invariably led to her being recognized.

White masked and swathed in white cloth, the mystery woman reclined upon the operating chair under the glare of powerful Kleig lights while Dr. Crum literally sliced 20 years from her life with a glittering scalpel.

Tedious Undertaking
For two hours and seven minutes the surgeon calmly went about his work, cutting here and stitching there, while the orchestra went on with its muted wailing of "How Long Will It Last" and "Goodnight Sweetheart." During the second hour of the operation four women in the audience fainted and were removed from the crowded room.

Through the entire ordeal, the patient lay passively in the chair without uttering a single sound, or betraying the slightest evidence of pain. Once, when an anesthetic was injected with a hypodermic needle, she did wince, and her unusually known as the underworld, all the rogues' galleries in the police files of our big cities will automatically become as obsolete as yesterday's tabloid. One can readily see the difficulty of identifying a brand new synthetic face with only a picture of the discarded one for guidance.

MANSFIELD GETS FEDERAL FLOUR

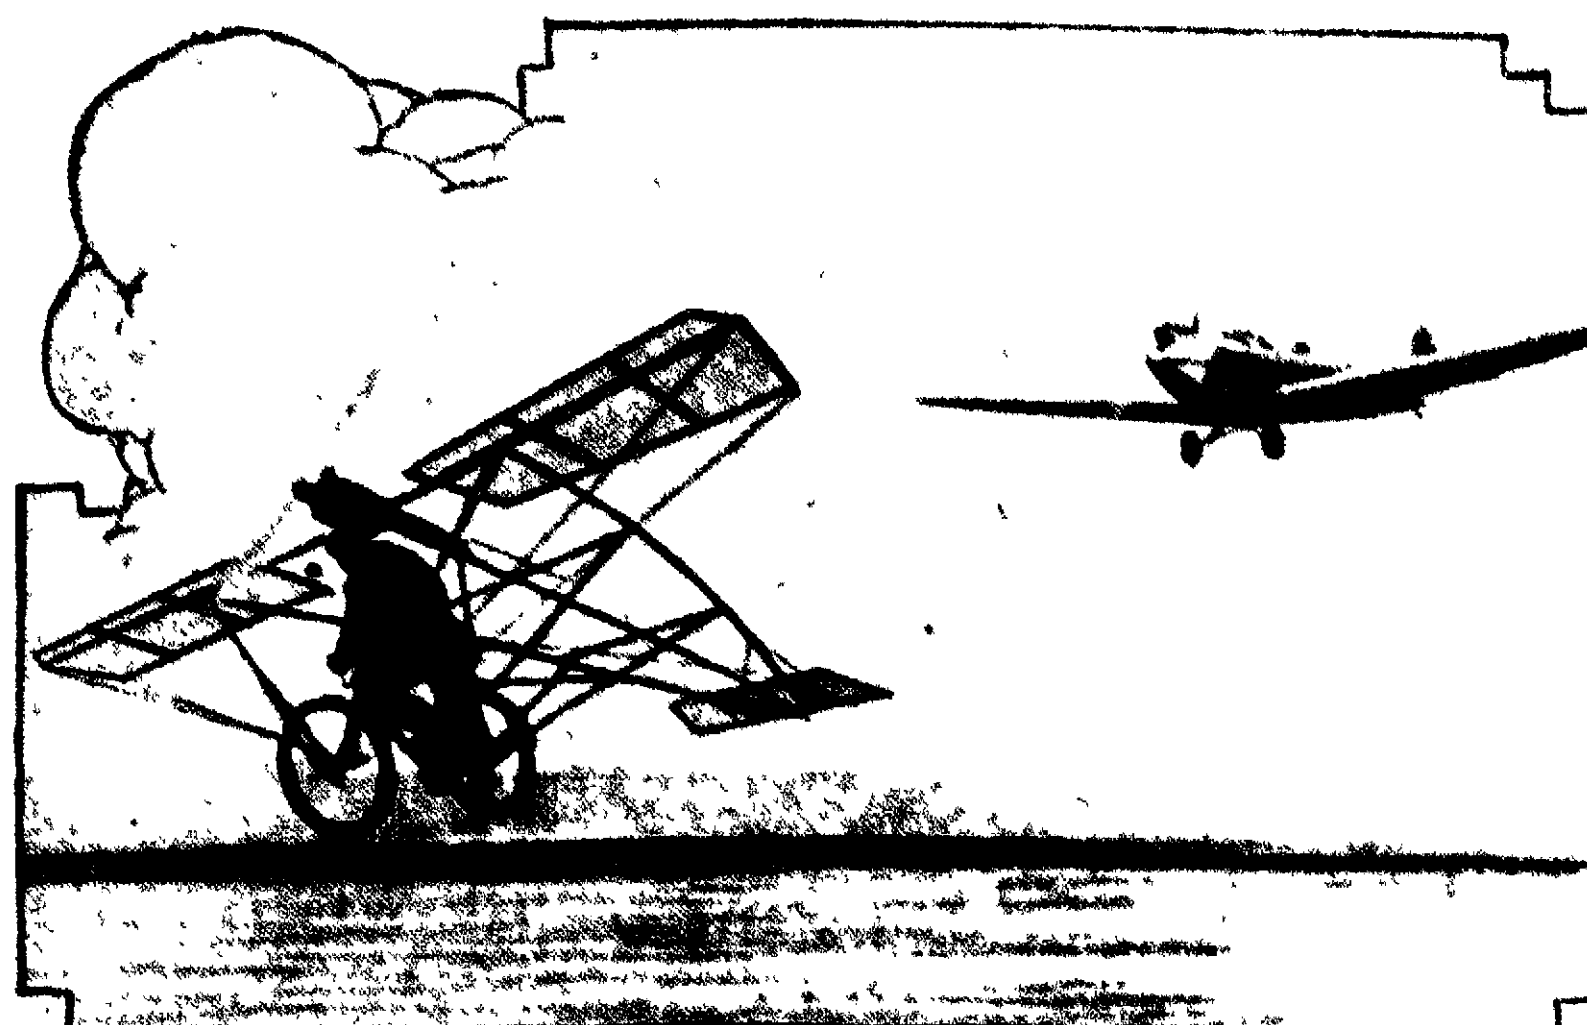

By The Associated Press
MANSFIELD, O., April 1 The Mansfield Red Cross today received 73,500 pounds of flour from the government, for distribution to the needy.

Plans seeking to centralize local relief agencies are being considered here. A club, known as the Mansfield-Madison Township association, is sponsoring the movement with a view to eliminating so-called unnecessary office workers and thus provide more funds for relief.

Inspects Company.

GALION, April 1—The annual federal inspection of the local Ohio National Guard unit was conducted Thursday night at the Armory by Captain Roy A. Carter. Wayne Davis is captain of the unit.

LATEST STAGE OF BICYCLE EVOLUTION

It is a long cry back to the days of the old high-wheeler bicycle. The bike has gone through a long process of evolution since then, but the cyclists of those early days could never have foreseen that one day there would be a bicycle with wings. Here it is, and it actually flies. The flying bike is the invention of Peter Muller of Berlin, Germany, who is shown testing out his novel aircraft. This initial flight was a success. Muller succeeded in getting his winged bike into the air and flying for a considerable distance at about 20 feet above the ground. He was followed during the flight by a real airplane.

Ohio Warden Scoffs at Plastic Surgery as Cure for Criminals

By International News Service
COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Warden P. E. Thomas, for 19 years head of the Ohio State penitentiary here, lightly scoffs at the suggestion that plastic surgery may be a cure for criminals' inferiority complexes.

"Plastic surgery won't change a convict's nature," said the warden.

Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, visualized the surgery methods in a statement from Washington and added that "practically all prisoners have inferiority complexes."

gory. Yet you can't change that man's nature."

"However," the warden declared, "it may do good in a rare instance in restoring a man's confidence and pride in himself."

"But plastic surgery isn't the answer for rehabilitation of the criminal."

"Whenever a man is admitted to the penitentiary, he gets a thorough physical examination and what bodily defects there are, such as broken noses, scars and impurities in his skin, we try to cure."

"We've been doing that for years. It is the same horse with a different color."

"That may help somewhat but only one out of possibly 500 convicts has any bodily defects when they enter prison."

"It is the soul of the man you want to reach," said the warden. "And education, such as teaching an illiterate man how to read or write or how to fill some job when he is released, is a far greater weapon for rehabilitation of the criminal than plastic surgery."

Here, the warden diverged to declare that all crime, excepting involuntary manslaughter, is premeditated. An act of crime is a man's "thought or his soul, or whatever you want to call it."

RADIO PERFORMERS BILLED AT PALACE OPENING SATURDAY

The stage appearance of Pie Plant, Pete and Tom Manning, WTAM stars, will be the center of attraction at the Palace Saturday and Sunday.

The two radio personalities will make four appearances each day.

On the screen will be "The Broken Wing," a picture just released, featuring Leo Carrillo, Lila Velez and Melvyn Douglas. The setting has a Latin-American flavor, and in addition to Carrillo a few of the foreign players listed are Soledad Jimenez, Julian Rivero and Pietro Sosno. George Barbier, the genial king in "The Smiling Lieutenant," and also cast in "One Hour with You," the Chevalier-Jeanette MacDonald picture opening Monday, has an important role.

Lupe is now appearing as the star in Ziegfeld's New York production, "Hot Chai."

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN OHIO PICTURE

Clara Kimball Young plays the role of a roominghouse keeper, in which tragedy stalks when she rents a room to Morgan Wallace, a good looking gigolo. In "Women Go on Forever" at the Ohio tonight and Saturday. Her other roomers are Marlon Nixon and Paul Page, sweethearts. Page is poor and to get money for his marriage, consents to drive his taxi for Maurice Black, a enemy of Wallace's. He is nabbed by the police and trumps up a story for Marlon. Wallace makes a play for Marlon that is unwelcome at first, but later she consents, only to have Black turn the tables on Wallace and take her. Miss Young finds Wallace in her room and in a row, her blind son kills him. There is excitement when the police arrive and for a while it looks as if Marlon will be seriously involved. Page returns in a furious at Marlon's date with Black, but when he learns the circumstances and when Wallace's brother admits the murder, everything turns out happily. Short subjects complete the bill.

LOVELIEST JEWESS

Picked as the most beautiful Jewish girl in the United States, Miss Lydia Shulman of New York today holds the proud title of Queen Esther. Strangely enough, Lydia has never been inside a beauty parlor; so it's all her own. For her beauty, she gives credit to her fondness for spinach. The queen will get a trip to Palestine as the reward of her piety.

GROCERS DISPLAYING NEW IMPROVED SHREDDED BISCUIT

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Making Hit with Housewives

One of the biggest improvements in cereals for many years is the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Grocers say that it is gaining in popularity every day.

The new Kellogg's biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that bakes in the rich flavor and retains all the food value of the whole wheat. It makes the biscuit easier to digest, as well.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are also toasted golden-brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. This makes them wonderfully crisp and crunchy. They are also a more convenient, economical size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package, instead of the usual dozen.

Of special interest is the fact that the Kellogg's biscuit is certified for food value by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia, whose statement appears on every package.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are a boon to mothers, because of their outstanding deliciousness and health value. A tasty treat for breakfast, lunch, children's supper. Delightful with hot or cold milk or cream, fruits or honey. Sold by grocers in the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, April 2

A PERIOD of conflict, upheaval and intrigue is among the possibilities under the dominant position of Uranus, the irregular, radical and abrupt, in the day's horoscope. This may be in connection with a change of position in employment or due to a subtle force of conspiracy in a secret body or a large corporation. An element of mystery prevails, though new contracts and fresh affiliations are profitable.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden and unexpected change of importance. A beneficial change of employment or negotiations of a secret nature with secret societies, managers or rings may bring this to a culmination. Act not rashly or impetuously and new affiliations and arrangements will prove to the advantage. A child born on this day should be adaptable, efficient. It should be skilful, adventurous and fond of the novel and unusual.

Notable Nativities: Bachman-Inhoff, composer.

Only Seven of Sixteen Teams Showed Profit for Season of 1931.

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, April 1.—Faced with 10 per cent taxation on their tickets and the risks of uncertain gate receipts, major league baseball clubs will need to play their drawing cards skillfully this year to keep from dipping any further into the red ink.

Only seven of the sixteen American and National league organizations showed a profit at the close of 1931. The lopsided character of the two pennant races was largely responsible for the slump in gate receipts but the national game, like every other sport, has felt the pinch of the times.

Player salaries have been reduced and the player limit cut, to bring about a saving estimated at about $750,000, but it will take additional measures to prevent further financial embarrassment for the magnates.

John McGraw, blaming the umpires for too much pacifism, believes the fans will turn out to see the ball players exhibit the scrappy spirit characteristic of McGraw's own playing days.

Besides their drawing power as world champions, the Cardinals are well fixed for providing a "good show" with players such as Pepper Martin and Dizzy Dean.

The Yankees, despite the perennial ace of all drawing cards—Babe Ruth—have a widely heralded young star in Frank Crosetti to attract the folks in the Bronx. Across the bridge, Brooklyn figures Jack Wilson's comeback attempt will draw enough at the gate to offset at least his purchase price—$40,000.

The Boston Braves will allow Art Shires to do all the broadcasting. He desires so long as he plays a satisfactory first base.

No doubt, too, the spirit of the times will persuade Al Schacht and Nick Atrock to match up their differences and again give the fans, as well as the Washington club, the benefit of their side-show stuff.

ATTACKS PROPOSED LEVY ON ATHLETICS
By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Prediction that the 10 per cent tax on tickets to sports events, proposed in congress, would cause further curtailment of athletics at Ohio State university was made by L. W. St. John, athletic director.

Expressing doubt that the levy could be added to ticket prices, St. John said its enactment might result in salary cuts, fewer athletic contests and other retrenchment. On football alone, St. John estimated the tax would net the government about $20,000 annually. Tax receipts from other sports, however, would be negligible, he said.

Eddie Hock, third baseman for Houston in the Texas league, is a deputy sheriff in Oklahoma during the off season.

Indians' Home Sked

Having already published a list of home playing dates of the Columbus Red Birds of the American Association, someone has requested that I print a home playing schedule of the Cleveland Indians of the American League. The following list shows all the home dates and the opponents of the Redskins for the 1932 season. The Tribe will perform at home on 12 Saturdays, 11 Sundays and on Memorial day. On the Fourth of July, Peckinpugh's proteges will be clouting the ball around the confines of the park at Chicago.

Baseball Rules

With the baseball season completed something like 100 of the leading coaches of the country are meeting in Chicago to hold a post-mortem on the rules and regulations of the game with the stated intention of making some changes in the playing code.

The principal objection to the present rules has to do with stalling. A majority of the court members agree that unless something is done to break up the growing habit of freezing the ball by the defensive team, much of the game's popularity will be lost. You understand, of course, no popularity, no spectators, no paid admissions—no paid admissions, no money for the school's athletic fund and no money in the athletic fund means no money to pay a coach.

If the coaches organization succeeds in adopting legislation to break up the stall it will have done the game a good turn. However, there are indications that the group will also make several other changes, some having to do with a much more complicated system of scoring, designed to allow more credit for long shots than for those scored from under the basket. Which to me at least, looks like a lot of hokey. There are arguments of course for both sides but from the spectators' standpoint, the present scoring system—a two points for a field goal, whether scored from under the basket or from mid-court—seems to be quite alright. A policy of "let well enough alone" might be a good thing when it comes to basketball rules. If all the proposals are adopted which have been suggested, the average fan will have to carry a book with him to each game in the future, with a title which might read something like this: How To Score a Basketball Game.

FULLER FAVORED IN BATTLE WITH BERG

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 1.—Sentiment may be with Jack (Kid) Berg, in his 10 round bout with Sammy Fuller of Boston in Madison Square Garden tonight but hard cash favors the New England youngster.

Odds as high as 2 to 1 have been quoted that Fuller will outpoint the British veteran and perhaps earn a shot at Tony Canzoneri's lightweight championship.

The betting ring, which seldom allows sentiment to mix with business, evidently believes that Berg is decidedly on the down grade and that he no longer possesses the speed he will need to offset Fuller's unrelenting attack.

The Red Lantern

While on this subject of basketball, I am reminded of a recent agreement between Mansfield and Ashland with reference to future court competition between these two schools.

Ashland it seems, has an old lantern which the Hilltoppers carry to each basketball contest as a good luck token, the belief being that as long as this lantern is burning, while the game is going on, the Ashlanders cannot lose. It might be noted that Ashland did not, for some unknown reason, bring the lantern to Marion for the game here last season. Harding won 20-23 and Ashland lays at least part of the blame on the fact the lantern was not among those present.

Possible, of course, but I have a hunch Harding's basketball team had considerable to do with the defeat. But that's neither here nor there.

J. Russell Murphy of Mansfield, on hearing of the lantern, suggested just before the first district tournament game with the Hilltoppers that the winning team take possession of the lantern until the two met again. "Rosie" Stern agreed pronto and then Ashland proceeded to soundly whip the Tigers for the third time in a single season. Ashland has the lantern and will have it until Mansfield is met next season. Perhaps they'll have it longer. That depends on who wins.

Training Camp Highlights

By The Associated Press
SAVANNAH, Ga., April 1.—The Cincinnati Reds were enroute to Louisville, Ky., today where they will end their training camp with games with the Colonels Saturday and Sunday.

They were defeated 7 to 3 by the Boston Red Sox yesterday, their former pal, Pete Donohue, holding them for four scattered hits in the first five innings. Bob Klein, a Columbus, O., product, took the mound for the Red Sox in the sixth and held the Reds back until the ninth, when a fourth rally yielded the three markers.

ST. PETERSBURG—Bill Walters, a promising young infielder, has left the Braves camp for Hot Springs to join the Montreal club of the International league. He didn't feel too badly about the move, however, as Manager McKechnie said he might be recalled at any moment.

LITTLE ROCK—Chicago's White Sox came to Little Rock today to open a series with the Travelers, and to try to start another winning streak. A young left-hander, Lefty Willis of Shreveport, let the Sox down with four hits and a 9 to 3 beating.

NEW ORLEANS—Two games this week-end with the Brooklyn Dodgers will complete the training season of the Cleveland Indians in New Orleans. The Tribe will start northward Monday.

RALEIGH, N. C.—Five rookie Athletics who showed their merits in training camp will have a chance to display their prowess to the home-town fans in the first game of the Philadelphia city championship series tomorrow. Connie Mack has announced.

BILONI—With 15 pitchers on his squad, Max Baer, Brooklyn manager, is having a hard time finding enough work for them all. The veterans need more work to get into condition, and Max wants to give the youngsters more, so he can size them up.

BIRMINGHAM—While the New York Yankees were on their way home today, Henry Johnson, one of their best pitchers was just beginning his spring training. Johnson underwent an appendicitis operation during the early days of the Yanks' stay at St. Petersburg.

PHILADELPHIA—The Phillies, stopped by rain and cold weather from playing their scheduled fourth game with the Atlanta Crackers in the Georgia capital, are on their way home today to meet the Athletics in the first game of the "city series" tomorrow.

ROBIN REED RETURNS HERE MONDAY NIGHT IN MAT HEADLINER

Popular Welterweight To Meet Sammy Vangler in Two-Hour Battle.

It hasn't been so long ago that Robin Reed, a young welterweight wrestler, who came from Orem, as his home town was packing him in at the Steam Shovel gym as he appeared here in a series of matches against some of the leading mat artists of this district. Reed became a "favorite son" of Marion mat fans with his lightning-like style of grappling and never failed to draw a big house when he headlined the card.

Just when he was at the height of his popularity here shortly before Christmas, Reed suddenly pulled stakes and made a hazy back to the Pacific coast where he has been bowling over opponents with the same regularity which marked his efforts in the local ring.

However, Reed doesn't seem to care about the idea of having grass grow under his pedals so he has ditched the sunny climes of the Pacific coast to return to the business of wrestling in the mid-west. Which is, most any Marion mat fan will agree, somewhat of a break for the home town.

Reed will clamber into the ring at the Steam Shovel gym next Monday night to oppose Sammy Vangler, the little Jewish welterweight who made his debut last week by tossing a pair of opponents in the 45 minutes semi-final battle. Vangler had the crowd on its feet most of the time while he was going about his task of disposing of the two gladiators and as a result of the interest has been given a main-gate post for the next program.

Vangler and Reed should put on a dashing battle. Both are light on their feet and lightning-like in their movements. Either one can get into and out of more holds in a minute than the average wrestler could think up in a lifetime.

In the semi-final bout Monday, Martin Zikhoff the Hungarian heavyweight, will make his second local appearance when he takes on "Cyclone" Ed Burns of Kansas City. Burns will be making his first showing in a local arena but he promises to provide plenty of opposition for Zikhoff. Zikhoff made a good showing in his first bout here some time ago against Sailor Arnold.

WEST POINT NAMES NEW SPORTS PILOT

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 1.—When Major Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the United States military academy leaves West Point in June, 1933, his place in the athletic department will be taken by Major J. D. Worsham, now district engineer at Memphis.

This became known, it might be noted, when an announcement was made that Major Worsham will report to West Point on Aug. 1.

Major Fleming has been graduate manager of athletics at the military academy for five years. Major Fleming was graduated from West Point in 1911.

TRACK SLOPPY FOR OPENING OF RACES
By The Associated Press
BOWIE, Md., April 1.—A sloppy track, fair weather but cold, was the forecast for the opening of the eastern racing season here today. Panetian, a four-year-old, was the favorite for the $5,000 inaugural handicap.

A steady rain all day yesterday made the track slow.

Sixteen horses were entered in the feature race but it was not expected that more than ten would go to the post. Panetian was given the heavy load—128 pounds—with Pigeon Hole ordered to carry 112.

BUFFALO, CLEVELAND MONOPOLIZE MEET
By The Associated Press
DETROIT, April 1.—Buffalo and Cleveland lineups will monopolize most of the 32 alleys in the American Bowling Congress tournament today.

Buffalo is sending 35 teams into action.

Saturday and Sunday the card will be filled with fast aggregations. Should the J. Nos. Batters retain their leadership until Monday they stand an excellent chance of coping the title with 3,046 total.

The ten leaders in all four events remained unchanged yesterday.

PECK SAYS INDIANS READY TO GO NOW; CONFIDENT OF FIRST DIVISION BERTH

BY ROGER PECKINPAUGH (Manager, Cleveland Indians)
By The Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS—Our club has never been in better shape than this spring. We haven't had a pitcher with a sore arm. In fact the boys are ready to open the season right now.

Shortstop Montague has been playing very well. His fielding has been fine. He is not been hitting a whole lot but if he bats as well as last year he will fill the bill. He is not playing the balls too fast this year and throws out on one step instead of three or four, which were his main faults.

Eddie Wants Old Job
Eddie Morgan is determined to keep Connie as off of first base. He is buckling down and giving everything he has. From what he has shown us this spring, he will be a 100 per cent better first baseman than he was in 1931. We know he can hit because he has done it for three years.

Willie Kamm is the same old Kamm. That takes care of third base. Burnett and Hodapp are both after second base and we have not decided yet on who will get the job.

Outfield Satisfactory
We have a good outfield. There is none better in the league for both fielding and hitting. Our catchers are first class. Pytlak helping considerably there.

Our pitchers, outside of Connally, are all young fellows and they, naturally should improve. This will be the third year the boys have been together and naturally they should work much more smoothly than before. We certainly should be a first division ball club.

Former Champ Not Impressed by Beating Babe Hunt.
By The Associated Press
DETROIT, April 1.—The first stage of his comeback campaign at an end, Jack Dempsey was headed westward today for a few weeks of rest before going into intensive training for a final crack at the title he lost six years ago to Gene Tunney.

The former champion's exhibition tour ended last night when he outpointed, but failed to knock down, Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., heavyweight whose long arms and vicious left hook made him dangerous throughout.

It was not a decisive victory. The Associated Press score card showed the first and third rounds even and gave Dempsey the second and fourth by a shade. There was no official decision.

The ex-champion intends to do some intensive mountain climbing to strengthen his legs and build up his stamina in anticipation of heavy fighting this summer.

HARRUFF TO PILOT CALVARY BALL CLUB
J. W. (Bill) Harruff will again be at the helm of the Calvary Evangelical recreation baseball team when that team takes the field this season in the No. 1 Sunday school circuit. Harruff was re-elected last night when the club met at his home at 270 Forest street. The club adopted a new system as concerns the captain of the team. "Fido" Robbins was named captain for the first game and Harruff will name a new captain for each succeeding game.

Besides being named manager of the team Harruff was named a representative on the athletic association of the church. The other members of the association will be named on April 11.

Eagle Players Called.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FORMATION OF DIAMOND LOOP

Ten Teams Represent Preliminary Discussion Proposed Circuit.

Prospects are bright for formation of an amateur league for teams of this district. Ten communities were represented by representatives either by representative proxy, at a confab last night at Marion hotel, at which time formation of the league was discussed.

R. E. King of Columbus, charge of the meeting last night, led a discussion on the proposed circuit, explaining the action of the league with the National Baseball Federation, formed, the circuit will be under the jurisdiction of that body.

The winners of the championship in the league would be eligible to compete in the national tournament to be held at Toledo late next summer. Expenses would be paid by the league.

It is hoped to have an eight circuit formed in this district. ever, the possibility exists more than eight teams will enter. If there are no more than 10 teams seeking admission, might be placed in the circuit although this would make league rather unwieldy. If there are 12 teams wanting better, six-team loops may be formed.

Teams represented last night: Agosta Cardinals, Pleasant ship, Morral, Claridon, Marion C. & O., Green Camp, Patrick, Harpster and Dela. Several other teams did not send representatives present but indicated they are interested in joining a team in the circuit. A meeting will be held at the hotel next Thursday night to continue discussion of the proposed circuit.

GROLL TEAM WINS PISTOL CLUB SHOOT
Groll's team scored a total of 1678 points to 1585 for the losers. R. Groll was high for the winners with a score of 409 and F. Groll finished second with 375. Smith led the losers with 392 and was trailed by W. E. Marks with 341.

Captain R. Groll's No. 1 team of the Marion Revolver association turned in a victory last night when the No. 5 team led by Harry Smith.

GRAINS RALLY AFTER SLUMP

Market More Than Recovers
Early Losses in Later Advances.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, April 1.—Firmness developed in grain prices today after a hesitant start. Moderate initial advances in securities had a strengthening effect, and so likewise did reports that the Spanish government was studying a project for immediate imports of wheat because of insufficiency of present stocks.

Opening unchanged to 1/4 lower, wheat afterward more than recovered. Corn started 1/2 off and subsequently rallied.

Monthly unofficial domestic crop reports, although construed as decidedly bullish, proved to be about as generally expected. Estimates of 1932 winter wheat production averaging 544,000,000 bushels, compared with 544,000,000 a year ago and a five year average of estimates on probable abandonment of acreage was 8.5 per cent. One leading authority said the crop condition was low in the heavy producing areas southwest and west, especially western Kansas and Nebraska, as well as northwest Oklahoma, and that the crop as a whole would be under normal.

Indicated domestic spring acreage as given by another specialist was for an increase of 43 per cent over last year's harvested acreage, compared with 49 per cent increase shown by official reports of intentions to plant. This would mean 19,834,000 acres against 20,835,000 reported intentions and 13,940,000 harvested in 1931. Intentions to plant spring wheat in western Canada pointed to the largest yield ever recorded, based on normal loss of acreage. Corn and oats were studied by wheat figures.

Provisions lacked support, despite hog market upticks.
